

U.S. General Services Administration

Acquiring Excess Personal Property

Maria Lopez (IL, WI and Richmond, KY)

Area Property Officer

GSA, FAS, PPM

(312) 886-8994

Email: maria.lopez@gsa.gov

Acquiring Excess Personal Property

Who Can Acquire Excess Personal Property?

- Federal agencies;
- The Senate;
- The House of Representatives;
- The Architect of the Capitol and any activities under his direction;
- The DC Government and Mixed ownership government corporations.

FMR: 102-36.60 through .75

The top of the slide features a close-up, slightly blurred image of the American flag, showing the stars and stripes. Below the flag is a solid red horizontal bar.

Why must we use excess personal property instead of buying new property?

- It maximizes the return on Government dollars spent and minimizes expenditures for new procurement.

What must we consider when acquiring excess personal property?

- There must be an authorized requirement.
- The cost of the property does not exceed the cost of purchasing and maintaining new materials.
- You must not acquire excess personal property with intent to sell or trade for other assets.

The top of the slide features a close-up, slightly blurred image of the American flag, showing the stars and stripes. Below the flag is a solid dark red horizontal bar.

When property is disposed of by another agency under the exchange/sale authority, how much do we pay?

- The amount of reimbursement is normally the Fair Market Value.

The top of the slide features a close-up, slightly blurred image of the American flag, showing the stars and stripes. Below the flag is a solid dark red horizontal bar.

How to Acquire Excess Personal Property

- Using GSAXcess;
- Submit a “Want List” in GSAXcess;
- Contact GSA Area Property Officer;
- Direct Transfer.

The top of the slide features a close-up, slightly blurred image of the American flag, showing the stars and stripes. Below the flag is a solid dark red horizontal bar.

Requesting Agency's Responsibilities

- The requesting agency is responsible for shipping and transportation costs.
- Arranging the pickup by the 15th day the transfer document is approved.

The top of the slide features a close-up, slightly blurred image of the American flag, showing the stars and stripes. Below the flag is a solid red horizontal bar.

Log onto GSAXcess.gov for demonstration